erly fire district met Wednesday eveing and completed the arrangements for the annual inspection and parade of the fire department next Saturday. Having been informed that the Pawratuck fire department would participate in the parade in the afternoon, if invited, the board of engineers extended the invitation, and the result will be that for the first time in about twenty years, the two departments that of necessity must depend upon each other in emergency cases, will parade together. The rivairles and jealousies that are characteristic of all volunteer departments naturally exist-Jealousies that are characteristic of all volunteer departments naturally existed in this section, and finally led to plainly defined lines of separation, so far as the annual parades went. Their coming teacher will have a tendency to create a more friendly spirit between neighboring departments whose interests are practically the same. The board of engineers announced additions to the official order of procession as follows:

Shortly before the civil war veterans started in Memorial day parade, one who was among the first to respond to President Lincoln's call to arms, Evan C. Burdick, answered the final call and his name is now on the honor roll of the heroic dead of Westerly. Mr. Burdick was a corporal of C company, First Phode Island volunteers, the first company to go to the front from Westerly. He was enrolled at Providence April 17, 1861, mustered into service May 2, 1861, and was mustered out at expiration of term of enlistment August 2, 1861.

Mr. Burdick was in his eighty-fourth year and had been ill for a long time. He is survived by Mrs. Burdick. He was a carpenter by trade and for years worked for the Randolph Bentley Co., long out of business. Mr. Burdick was baptized a member of the First Baptist church, April 16, 1848, and was earnest and sincere in his membership for over 63 years. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. High Montgomery, a noble Scotch minister, resigned his pastorate of the Metho-dist church in Norwich, and as county prosecuting sgent was a terror to rum sellers. There were a goodly number of prohibitionists in the town and in the village. The brother I succeeded had been a pard worker on that side and whatever he did or said went with most views. most every one. It was taken for granted that I, being a minister, was also a 'party prohibitionist.' After a time I was approached with a pledge whose substance was that I would give my wote and voice to that party only. Much to their surprise, I declined, I told them that when I made my ap-
